GRAVE CRISIS FACES COUNTRY

GERMANY MUST ABANDON SUBMARINE WARFARE SAYS PRESIDENT.

GOES BEFORE CONGRESS

In Fifteen Minute Speech Wilson Tells Diplomats of Gravity of Situation.

Washington, April 19.—President Wilson told Congress, assembled in joint session shortly after 1 o'clock this afternoon, he has given German irrevocable notification that the United States will break off diplomatic relations if her illegal submarine campaign is continued.

A note, America's last word, practically an ultimatum and demanding an immediate reply, presumably was in the Berlin Foreign Office as the President was speaking. It was dispatched last night in accordance with the President's plan to have it before the German Government at the same moment he was addressing the American Congress.

The President asked no action whatever of Congress. He simply informed it of the accumulation of facts proving that Germany's assurances to the United States are being violated; that the submarine campaign, despite the earnest protests of the United States, is being conducted with renewed vigor in contravention of all the laws of nations and humanity, and that he means to sever relations unless it is brought within the law. Diplomatic history of the world shows that such a course is almost certain to be followed by war.

The President's note and his address to Congress are final. They mark the end of diplomatic exchanges. A continuance of the longstanding friendly relations, the President made clear, depends alone upon Germany's conduct.

Galleries Are Packed.

Representatives of the Allied countries filled the galleries of the House. Women ruled in the public galleries, less than twenty men finding places in the 600 seats. Mrs. Wilson was in the executive gallery.

In the Cabinet party were Secretaries Lansing, Baker, Houston and Wilson, Attorney General Gregory and Postmaster General Burleson. The Vice President and Senators arrived at 12:30 and marched in double file down the center aisle, members of the House rising and remaining standing until they were seated.

While the Senators were taking their seats President Wilson reached the Capitol and waited in Speaker Clark's office, just outside the chamber. As the President entered the chamber just before 1 o'clock Senators, Representatives, Cabinet and galleries rose. An outburst of applause gave way to loud cheering. During this demonstration the President shook hands with the Speaker and the Vice President and then bowed to the assemblage.

The President began his address speaking slowly and distinctly. His voice was heard throughout the chamber. As the President began the review of the German submarine campaign there was no demonstration to punctuate his recital of the sacrifice of American lives. Not a sound was heard above the President's voice as he spoke the name "Lusitania."

Heads Are Bowed.

Every head bowed forward as the President indicated that he was approaching the keynote of his message, the announcement of the course he will pursue. His declaration that Germany had made it plain she intended to continue indiscriminate warfare in defiance of international law and the protests of the United States was followed by the statement that this determination had left but one course open to the United States.

When he pronounced the words of the ultimatum declaring that unless Germany should immediately declare and effect an abandonment of indiscriminate submarine warfare this Government would have no choice but to sever diplomatic relations, there was still no demonstration, only a tense silence and a reflection of the gravity of his words. When he concluded with expression of hope that Germany would so act to avert a regrettable break with America, the assembly broke into cheers. It was 1:14 o'clock when the President concluded. He had spoken just fifteen minutes.

Did He Cause Rain.
The supposition that rain comes down because it listeth is officially refuted in San Diego, where $10,000 may have to be paid out of the city treasury by way of shattering the old belief that Mother Nature is responsible, is shown in a story to the New York World.

The City Attorney has ruled that the city must pay Charles Hatfield that sum for filling the Morena Dam. Hatfield is a rainmaker. He went to El Paso some weeks ago and spoke somewhat as follows:

"I notice you don't have very much of an average rainfall here. I'd like to make rain for you."

"Fill Morena Dam," said the councilmen, and they all laughed. Morena Dam had never been more than a third filled.

"All right," said Hatfield, "for $10,000."

Still laughing, they agreed. Hatfield erected his tower near the dam, put his galvanized iron tanks on top of them, wrapped the tanks with tar paper, and poured in his chemical fluid. He was off in the mountains and the city forgot him. The councilmen were measuring the treasury resources and thinking about appropriations—but never about the $10,000—when it began to rain.

Some one brought down word that the water at Morena Dam was higher than it ever had been.

"Hatfield isn't doing it," the Councilman said. "Everybody's getting rain these days."

But when the downpour continued, and the flood followed, some favored paying Hatfield $5,000 and calling it quits. But Hatfield is sure he will get his $10,000.

FIRE TRUCK WRECKED

Owensboro Officials Believe Someone Put Emery Dust in Gear

After affidavits of Elmer Little and L. H. Basham had been read at the council meeting Monday night, that body authorized a reward of $100 for the arrest and conviction of the man who or child who entered the central fire station and "tampered" with the big motor truck some time in the past few weeks, this now being given as the cause for the big truck falling to work, when it was almost wrecked by Driver Alexander about ten days ago. The reward was offered on motion of Mr. Mischel, who believes that the "truth will yet come out."

It is set out in both affidavits that some kind of a mixture resembling emery dust and clay had been put into the gear cases of the big truck and that "the effect of this material was to cut out the idler gear and bearings, and looked to have been introduced into the tube for oiling the gear and bearings, which could have been done by taking off the cap." They say "the case was sealed and said material could not have gotten into it by accident or ordinary use."

Just when this is supposed to have taken place Chief Cummings has no knowledge but he feels satisfied that some one has undertaken to interfere with the service of the fire department. The chief is also doing a little detective work, and in the event that he should secure a clue, warrants will be immediately sworn out for the guilty party.

About a week ago when a reporter for the Inquirer asked firemen at the central station about the reported finding of emery dust, he was told that there was "nothing to it." Owensboro Inquirer.

MILITARY FORCE OF MILLION MEN

FOR STANDING ARMY WITH PEACE FORCE OF 250,000.

SCENES OF EXCITEMENT

Grave Developments Cause Senate To Pass Volunteer Provision.

Washington, April 18.—An army reorganization bill that would produce regular army and reserve military forces in the United States aggregating a million men was passed by the vote. It is a substitute for the Hay bill passed by the House, and the differences will be worked out in conference.

On the eve of a joint session of the houses of Congress to hear a message from the President on grave international issues, the Senate hastened completion of the bill amid scenes of excitement, repeatedly rejecting all amendments pending to reduce the proposed strengthening of the army.

Greater Peace Strength.

In the closing hours of debate the Senate made provision for a regular standing army with a peace strength of 250,000 men, as compared with 140,000 in the Hay bill, which passed the House, retained after a close fight the plan for a Federal volunteer army reserve force calculated to aggregate 261,000 men, and federalized the National Guard forces of the States at an estimated strength of 280,000 men.

In addition to this combined regular and reserve force of 790,000 men, an amendment was passed to create a school and college youths' reserve corps in time of war or threatened war, which would recruit a force of trained young men, schooled by officers of the regular army, the estimated strength of which is anywhere from 200,000 to 400,000.

"We are creating here tonight, a peace army of a million men," declared Senator Myers in supporting an amendment of Senator Reed to make the regular army 200,000. The Senate had agreed previously by a vote of 43 to 37 to an amendment by Senator Brandegee increasing it from the proposed strength of 180,000 to 250,000. The Reed reduction proposal was rejected, 24 to 31, after a brief speech by Senator Williams in which he referred to the solemnity of the occasion which would confront Congress tomorrow.

Says War Threatens.

"Are we or are we not threatened with war?" asked Senator Williams. "Are we or are we not threatened with war from Mexico? Are we or are we not threatened with war over the submarine controversy? Have we not been called to assemble in joint session to-morrow, the solemn purpose of which we do not ourselves definitely understand?"

"If the army cannot exceed a certain number except in a state of threatened war, we are now in a state of threatened war if the President of the United States thinks so. For myself, I think we are pretty seriously threatened with international difficulties both from the East and the South."

The apparently grave developments of the few hours preceding the passage of the bill also probably served to save the volunteer army provision. Champions of the National Guard fought it bitterly in the Committee of the Whole and it was retained by a vote of 34 to 32. To-night Senator Lewis again moved to strike out the section. It was saved this time by a vote of 40 to 37.

Chaos Precedes Chicago.

With only a little more than a month intervening before the meeting of the National Republican Convention it is difficult to account for the fact that party sentiment has grouped itself about no special candidate for the nomination.

Why this is true is fair field for speculation. The most talked of man is Justice Hughes, but it is mostly talk. One rarely hears a positive declaration for him. Everybody says Roosevelt is a possibility, but as in the case of Hughes positive declarations for him are rare. Senator Root is conceded to be one of the ablest Republicans in the country, and the wisdom and conservatism of the party probably favors him, but Root's cold dignity does not readily stir the enthusiasm of the masses. Barring development of the unexpected one of the three men mentioned will be nominated.

Hughes' strength is in a large measure a negative strength. The Progressive would prefer him to a pronounced old guard candidate and the old guard would prefer him to Roosevelt. Hughes position upon the most pressing questions is unknown, and his ability, or rather his inclination, to maintain party solidarity if elected is an uncertain quality.

Roosevelt's strength is difficult of analysis. At the core the party believes that Wilson's weak foreign policy makes a more aggressive action of Roosevelt in order to restore the country's waning prestige both at home and abroad. It is only the fear that a large number of old line Republicans would not support him that prevents a stampede to Roosevelt. Progressives share with regulars this apprehension. It is noticeable that the old line leaders are opposing the proposal only for the reason mentioned. Whether the convention meets he'll break loose in Georgia and everybody go over to him must wait upon events. Unless sentiment develops between now and the convention strong enough to force Roosevelt's nomination, or strong enough at least to force the politicians to take Hughes to avoid taking Roosevelt, Root will probably be the nominee of the Chicago convention. However, it is still an open field and one man's guess is as good as others.

INSURANCE COMPANIES

Won't Take a Chance On The Life Of The "Fatal Seven."

Chicago, April 17.—Your life is not worth a dime, not even a battered up nickel, according to insurance companies, if you are listed among the "fatal seven" which consists of—Steeple jacks, Aviators, Soldiers, Dynamite employees, Jockeys, Auto racers, Grooms who ride the hounds. Insurance companies keep a closer tab on deaths than anybody else in the world. Deaths cost them money, and to reduce the risks they have figured things out on a percentage basis.

They will not insure persons in some walks of life. They will take a chance on a soldier in a time of peace, but a "rider" in his policy makes it void during war. The other chaps in the "fatal seven" they won't insure at all.

There are other "undersirables"—sailors, prison guards, bridgebuilders, ironworkers, players in the movies. Insurance companies charge high rates when insuring any persons of these occupations.

Actresses are too temperamental for traveling—and they have to travel, according to the risk firms. Distillery workers pay $20 per $1,000 for policies.

Doctors are not held good risks—too liable to accidents.

Best risks are commercial travelers—because they're so familiar with the perils of travel they seldom get hurt. Only ten per cent. of their accident policies are collected.

School teachers also are good risks.

Attention Farmers!

We have arranged for an illustrated lecture on hog cholera by an expert from the Kentucky Experimental Station at the following places and dates and I wish to call your attention to the necessity of hearing these lectures. In some sections you now have the disease and it spreads all the time and you need to know how to detect the disease when you see it and how to prevent its spreading. So take an hour's off and avail yourself of this opportunity that you do not have often, and come and hear it at Rockport, Tuesday night April 25, at 7:30.

MAY WITHDRAW THE U. S. TROOPS

GEN. SCOTT SENT TO BORDER TO INVESTIGATE CONDITIONS.

NEED MORE SOLDIERS

Haven't Sufficient Men To Properly Protect Line of Communication.

Washington, April 19.—Major General Hugh Scott will go to San Antonio, Texas, tonight by order of Secretary Baker to get accurate information on the situation on the border of Mexico.

Secretary Baker would not discuss Gen. Scott's mission. It is assumed, however, that his report after a conference with Funston, would go far toward determining the course to be pursued in Mexico. Military observers appear to agree that some radical move must be made soon, either to back up the troops or withdraw them as in the present position they are unable to press the pursuit of Villa properly and their presence serves only to irritate the Mexicans.

El Paso, Texas, April 19.—Confirmation of reports that the American expeditionary force was being concentrated at three points in Mexico preparatory either for the withdrawal of the troops or the organization of a new and more extensive campaign was received here today from Mexican sources.

It was said that General Pershing had withdrawn all outlying detachments south of Namiqlupa and that in the neighborhood of 3,000 men were camped at San Antonio, 12 miles West of Cushtulirachic, and that a force estimated at almost double this number was being concentrated near Namiqlupa.

The belief that the American troops are about to leave Mexico is widespread among the Mexicans in Juarez and has completely changed the attitude of the people, who after the Parral incident gave marked indications of hostility toward Americans.

Supplementing reports that the political situation in Mexico was of minor importance in comparison with the economic conditions and the ravages of typhus epidemic which has been sweeping through the central states, an American mining official received messages today that relief was urgently needed if thousands of the peons in Durango, Coahuila, Aguascalientes, San Luis, Potosi and Zacatecas were not to perish.

Must Fight Typhus.

These messages stated that there were between 4,000 and 5,000 cases of typhus in the city of Aguascalientes and a similar proportion in almost every city of importance in Central Mexico, including Queretaro. The man who received these messages is the head of a concern with very large interests in Mexico and which in normal times employs several thousand Mexican workmen. He said that as far as the lack of food was concerned, he had tried to do something toward relieving the distress of his former employees by sending corn and beans to points where the distribution was worst.

"I found," he said, "that my efforts were more provocative of ill than good. If I sent a carload of corn to help out a hundred of my former employees, it would be besieged by a mob of thousands and would prove merely the cause of a riot in which nobody would get much of anything."

The Carranza officials are making strenuous efforts to send food into the stricken districts and to check the ravages of typhus, but the disturbed conditions in the country are proving a serious handicap.

MAKING NEW CAR.

Dual-Power Automobile a Great Invention.

What is by far the most radical and interesting development recently carried out in electric-vehicle construction is represented in a new dual-power car that has just made its appearance. It is described in the May Popular Mechanics Magazine. In designing the machine an attempt has been made to embody the best features of both the gasoline and electric cars. The result is a truly remarkable vehicle which has the body lines and general appearance of an electric, the speed and touring radius of a gas car, the comforts of both, and the drawbacks of neither.

The car is capable of unusual performances. It can be driven on gasoline power alone, electric alone, or both at the same time. A maximum speed of about 35 miles an hour is attainable. When driving on gasoline, the surplus power, or that developed in excess of what is actually needed to carry the machine at desired speed, is saved, for the motor automatically becomes a generator and charges the batteries. Should the gasoline supply run short at any time the batteries are good for 30 miles. When a steep hill is to be climbed a driver has the advantage of two forms of motive power. The danger of stalling the car is entirely obviated; for should the engine stop, the motor would instantly begin turning it over at several hundred revolutions a minute. Thus it would not be stalled for as much as a second, if in good condition, and in any event the motor would keep the car moving.

From an economic standpoint the machine is unusual. Road tests have shown that it is possible to get 45 miles out of one gallon of gasoline. For a car of the size and weight of this one, the record at first thought seems incredible. While driving on the engine alone about 30 miles is possible with a gallon of fuel. While doing this, however, the batteries are charged for an additional 15 miles. It will be seen that the trouble and expense of battery charging, present in all electric cars, are absent here.

The weight of the machine is 3,100 lbs. as against 4,200 lb. of the electric of which it is an outgrowth. Since the battery space is lessened by half, room is available at the rear to conceal an extra tire. The only way in which the car differs in appearance from the conventional brougham is that the hood has a streamline effect and a neat, V-shaped radiator is provided at the front. It should be understood that there is no transformation of power except that which otherwise would be wasted. This distinguishes the car from those known as gasoline-electrics.

For tea drinking the world's record is held by Australia.

GUARD OFFICERS TO GET $500 A YEAR

ARMY BILL PROVIDES FEDERAL PAY FOR MEN RANKING ABOVE CAPTAINCY.

Washington, April 17.—Two more provisions designed to strengthen the federal status of the national guard were written in the Senate army bill today. In the course of adequate enrollment by charges that federal funds provided the national guard in past years had been foolishly thrown away and in some cases embezzled, the Senate adopted amendments providing that all officers of the guard above the rank of captain be paid $500 a year by the federal government and that all guardsmen on enlistment be required to take an oath to obey orders from the president as well as from the governors of their respective states.

The attack on guard officers for their use of federal funds was made by Senator Borah in a speech opposing the Reed amendment for federal pay. The Idaho senator declared the $8,000,000 available annually for use of the guard under the Dick militia law had been "shamefully" utilized by officers to the exclusion of enlisted men and that some of it had been "embezzled."

Senators Reed, Pomerene and others defended the guardsmen and the federal pay amendment was adopted, 41 to 14.

To support his charges Senator Borah cited the annual report of the War Department on the expenditure of the militia fund. Among the cases cited were:

"Camp of instruction, Alabama, 1912. Troops in attendance never in excess of one regiment; duration 20 days. Amount paid to the members of the staff department of its state who were not members of the regiments participating, $2,822.12."

"Camp of instruction, Delaware, 1912. Troops in attendance, four companies. Total payments to officers, $1,937.81. To enlisted men, $625.60."

"Camp of instruction, Mississippi, 1912. Enlisted men participating never were at any time in excess of 200. Total payments to officers' staff department, $1,999.45. Duration of encampment, 20 days. Total funds disbursed in maintenance during the latter, including pay of rifle team in 1911, was $12,669.28 of which $9,881.28 was paid to officers and $489.39 to enlisted men. At camp of instruction in 1912 the total pay of officers was $3,317.47; enlisted men, $544.77; civilians, $1,317. At this camp the total sum of $5,624.17 was paid for the instruction of 43 officers and 99 enlisted men for a period of 22 days."

Senator Reed introduced an amendment late today to provide schools to train young men as reserve officers for the army and navy. The secretaries of war and navy would be authorized to divide the country into from six to 12 districts, each containing a school for the instruction of reservists from 14 to 20 years old. Enlistment would be for 10 years, the first four to be spent in school and the rest in reserve.

NEWSPAPER GIVES DEATH OF WASHINGTON

COPY OF ULSTER COUNTY GAZETTE HIGHLY PRIZED BY SCOTTSVILLE MAN.

Scottsville, Ky., April 15.—Ben A. Downing, a grocer, of this city, has in his possession a copy of a newspaper which is evidently one of the pioneer publications of this country. However, despite its advanced age, it is in a fair state of preservation. It is the Ulster County Gazette, published in Ulster county, New York, and bears the date of January 4, 1800, with Daniel Freer & Sons as editors and publishers. This rudely printed and designed periodical was made up of four-column pages, and the columns are only seventeen inches long.

Although George Washington died several weeks before, this copy carries the announcement of the patriots demise. There are also the proceedings in Congress and a short address of President John Adams before the United States Senate, in which he extolled the many virtues of the dead warrior. Both inside pages are arranged in mourning, with a thirty-six point bold-faced border, and instead column rules, a twenty-point border is used. These pages are devoted to public communications, expressing sorrow and grief at the death of the Father of His Country.

In the advertising department many peculiar articles may be found for sale. The most striking one is the following:

"For Sale—Stout, healthy negro wench. Anyone inclined to purchase may know particulars by applying to JOHN SHOONMAKER."

There are no attorneys or professional callings of any character advertised in its columns.

An interesting article appearing on the first page, which was more than likely printed several days before the paper was completed, is by Washington upon retiring to private life, addressed to the "clergy in and around the city of Philadelphia."

Taking this copy as a fair sample of newspapers in those days, it can clearly be seen that no other business in all the world has made such progress as in newspaper work. One could scarcely conceive of a comparison that would be suitable to the vast improvement of the modern metropolitan dailies over this ancient sheet which was published "every little while."—Louisville Times.

Her Neglectful Parents.
She was very young, very pretty and had been engaged less than 43 hours.

"Mamma," she said, softly. "Harry is just perfectly wonderful."
"Yes, Muriel," replied her mother, understandingly.
"Yes, he is! Why you and papa have known me—known me all my life and never noticed it!"
"Never noticed what, dear?"
"Why, Harry kept looking to my eyes last evening, and every time he looked into them he whispered to me that each one was just a little bit bluer than the other!"—Judge.

RANGERS CARRY TWO-AND-A-HALF POUND TELEPHONE

Washington, April 18.—A portable telephone, made of aluminum and weighing 2½ pounds, the invention of a Forest officer, R. B. Adams of Missoula, Montana, will be part of the regular equipment of patrolmen on the Nation Forests the coming field season. This instrument is regarded as a great improvement over the set formerly used, which weighed ten pounds.

It is said that a field man equipped with this telephone, a few yards of light emergency wire, and a short piece of heavy wire to make ground connections can cut in anywhere along the more than 20,000 miles of Forest Service telephone lines and get in touch with the headquarters of a supervisor or district ranger. To talk, one end of the emergency wire is thrown over the telephone line, the two ends are connected to the portable instrument, and the instrument is connected to the ground wire, the end of which must be thrust into the damp earth or water. Contact with the line wire is made possible by removal of the insulation from a few inches of the emergency wire.

The Adams instrument does not ring the bell of the receiving telephone, but instead causes a screeching sound from a small megaphone-shaped apparatus descriptively known as a "howler." This instrument is installed at the ranger station telephone and is said to give effective notice that some one is on the wire. If the field man needs to talk with some one elsewhere on the line, the ranger station instrument can be used to ring up the person wanted, when the conversation can be carried on.

Forest officers say that these portable phones are especially valuable in reporting fires and other emergencies with the least possible delay, and also in sending instructions to field men and keeping the district rangers informed as to the progress of work going on in the field, thus supplementing the regular telephone sets installed at lookout points, ranger stations, and convenient intervals along Forest Service roads and trails.

AVIATOR DROPS BOMBS ON NATIONAL CAPITAL

Washington, April 15.—"My purpose in making tonight's raids over the residential, business and national buildings sections of Washington was to employ the most effective method of impressing officials and members of Congress and Senate how absolutely at the mercy of hostile aircraft are the great cities of our country. I could have blown the White House and capital off the map had I been armed with the most deadly explosives instead of fireworks bombs timed to explode 1,000 feet in the air. My next raid will be far more spectacular than that of tonight and will be unannounced."

"I will visit your city under the cover of darkness before I finish my campaign of acceleration of sentiment for preparedness. From the viewpoint of the spectacular, my raid will be the nearest to a genuine Zeppelin demonstration that will be witnessed in time of peace. My trip is being financed by a group of wealthy men who are sincere in their efforts to arouse the citizens of the entire country to the need for aerial preparedness. In our whole country we have not one anti-aircraft gun with which to combat the aerial enemy."

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

We are authorized to announce TOM SPURRIER, of Grayson county, as a candidate for Congress, from the Fourth District, subject to the action of the Republican primary, Saturday, August 5, 1916.

Local fishermen should be thankful that they don't have to pay a tax on water dogs.

It has been decided by a Kentucky court that a mule has a perfect right to kick, which might be taken as a victory for the pessimist.

If the bond issue carries in May the farmers will pay only a small percent of the indebtedness. Corporations and people living in the towns will pay the remainder.

Villa was declared dead again and it was feared that his body was so decomposed that recognition would be difficult. What manner of man is this that has so many lives?

Headlines say Wilson feels that the purpose of the expedition in Mexico has been accomplished. How that can be true we fail to comprehend. We were to capture the slayer of helpless Americans dead or alive, but we have captured "Villa" neither dead nor alive.

One of the wisest steps ever taken by the Ohio Fiscal Court was the employment of a farm demonstrator. The real value of our demonstrator can hardly be estimated and his activities are confined to no one section. The farmers of Ohio county need such a man to advise with them and the people of the towns are willing to help pay the bill. We are fortunate in having a man that is most happy when aiding the tiller of the soil and we must keep him.

The popularity of Roosevelt is increasing and his nomination at Chicago would be no great surprise. A local Republican who has just returned from the West confirms the report that that section favors the Colonel. The former president has come forth with what he stands for and it took him but a very few minutes to tell it. We've been trying for four years to learn what Wilson policies are and from all present indications we will be just as far from it when the President goes out of office as we are now. A Democratic contemporary remarks that the Republican party will have the Roosevelt policies thrust upon it because it will nominate the ex-President. Now, if the people want Roosevelt and his policies they know what they want and are not dealing in unknown quantities, neither is there likely to be any planks broken as were your own one term and free tolls promises.

STRAINED RELATIONS.

We are again in strained relations with Germany and unless one or the other of the two countries concedes practically all a break is almost sure to come. If it be America, America's prestige is shattered. We have had some hard knocks in the last two years. Diplomatically we have nothing to be proud of, we have our Mexican relations to be ashamed of. We have made a few late starts at doing things but have ceased our efforts before anything could be accomplished. We have been laughed at, scoffed and defied by even the lower type of Greaser.

Even the most "sissy" school chap sometimes takes a stand and scratches his teeth. The administration has told the Kaiser just what he must do. This has been done before but Germany's promises have amounted to so much wind. Will Germany again make promises or will she refuse? The former probably means little; the latter, if we follow the precedent of honorable nations, means the severance of diplomatic relations, which means war. But war, with all its horrors is preferable to a prideless nation if by means of war we may be enabled to place it on its former pedestal of esteem and respect.

If it comes to the worst we may satisfy ourselves by confiscating the millions of dollars worth of property belonging to Germany now in this country. On the other hand we, by a severance of diplomatic relations with Germany, would align ourselves with the Entente Allies and as an ally they would expect us to do our part.

The people of the United States do not want war. They abhor it. But if the worst comes we must lay aside our petty political grievances and join hands to win. We should be turning out ships and ammunition right now for if we become engaged in a gigantic struggle and lose the indemnity tax forced upon us will make road and preparedness levies seem a most pleasant favor.

Sawing Wood With Power.

Centrifugal force is the active agent in some interesting phenomena, such as keeping a bicycle upright, causing a top to return to a certain position after being disturbed, and giving to a soft iron disc the rotary tension that enables it to cut through heavy armor plate. A disc of cardboard revolved rapidly in a lathe, says the Industrial Magazine, behaves like sheet metal. A report of German experiments states that the cardboard can no longer be bent, and if struck with a hammer it emits a sound like that from bronze.

TRUTHS CONCERNING THE ROAD BOND ISSUE

WE SUBMIT TO THE VOTERS OF OHIO COUNTY THESE FACTS FOR CONSIDERATION.

To The Voters of Ohio County.
It is proposed to issue $300,000 of bonds and with this money build the roads from the county seat (Hartford) to each county line, thus completing the inter-county road system. It is estimated that this will mean the building of about 75 miles to the seven adjoining counties.

State Aid.

Under the present law the county can issue its bonds, build $300,000 worth of roads under state supervision, and the state will return to the county its proportionate part of the State Aid Fund each year until one-half (150,000) is paid back. Now the county can use this money from the State in paying principal and interest on the bonds; or the county can take care of the bonds independently and use the money from the State each year in the building of new roads or in maintenance. The county thus has the opportunity of building $300,000 worth of roads for $150,000 of its own money.

Can We Afford It?

Considering the benefits that accrue by reason of good roads, we can afford to do it. If we consider this bond issue as a debt, it is not heavy. It is less than 5 per cent of the taxable value of the property of this county; and the taxable value is hardly one half of the real value. The assessed value of farm lands averages less than $9 per acre. In other words it is about the same as a man worth $1,000, contracting a debt of $45, or a man worth $10,000, making a debt of $450. The advantage is with the county, however, because the STATE PAYS ONE-HALF OF THE DEBT.

How About Taxes.

To take care of this obligation will require additional taxation. Just how much we cannot say, but IT CAN NOT EXCEED 20 CENTS ON THE HUNDRED, and no increase of poll tax whatever. What does this mean? It means that the average amount of taxes on owners of farm lands in Ohio county could not exceed $1.42 each.

Where Does the Burden Fall?

The greatest benefit from good roads is derived by the farming population, yet on them the burden falls the lightest. The assessment for 1916 shows the following:
Total assessed value of all property $7,185,331. Assessed value of railroads, banks and other corporations $2,486,264. Assessed value of farming lands $2,943,511. Assessed value town lots and other property $1,755,556.

These figures show that though the farming population benefits more directly from good roads than any other class of people, they pay taxes on less than THREE-SEVENTHS of the property. Of this the State pays one-half, so the farming population gets the greater use of the roads, and all the accruing benefits therefrom, and pays only three fourteenths of the cost.

It is not meant that everybody does not benefit from good roads. The benefits are to every class of citizen, but most directly and immediately to the farmer.

Why A Bond Issue?

It is better to raise the money for the complete system and issue bonds for the following reasons:

1. Because the people of the whole county will immediately realize the benefits of good roads, rather than a few people get the benefit year by year under the piecemeal system.

2. Because by construction of a large mileage at one time the cost of construction is materially reduced.

3. Because the burden of payment is by this plan distributed over a long period of years, and the people of all the county will be getting the use of the roads while paying for them.

4. Because the tax the people are unconsciously and ignorantly paying for bad roads is many times the tax necessary to take care of a system of good roads.

Does It Pay?

One county in the South spent $100,000 in five years in building permanent roads, and within two years after the road improvement began, the tonnage over the roads increased about 45 per cent, while the dairy and poultry products increased 140 per cent. If this could happen in another county, why not in Ohio county?

In another county in one year after the building of roads with a $150,000 bond issue, the value of products sold from field, dairy and farm increased 40 per cent in one year; while the dairy and poultry products increased over 100 per cent in value.

In five years after Ohio county completes a system of roads, the value of her products will increase just as surely as it has happened elsewhere.

HARRISON COUNTY COW ADOPTS LAMBS

MOTHERLESS ANIMALS ACCEPT SITUATION AND SEEM WELL PLEASED.

Cynthiana, Ky., April 17.—J. W. Whitaker, who lives on his farm near Oddville, this county, has a cow that is possessed of motherly instincts more fully developed than those of any ordinary bovine. On the place are a number of motherless lambs, little fellows bereaved through no fault of their own, thrown upon the charity of a cold world by the death of their mothers. The cow looked with pitying eye on the sad plight of these little fellows, and her kindly heart was touched. The lambs were adopted.

The cow suckles them regularly or irregularly as their infantile fancy suggests, and allows them more liberties and privileges than any of her own progeny were ever accorded. The lambs are suckled in the ordinary way when it suits their lordly pleasure, but their greatest delight is to catch mother cow lying under the shade of a tree placidly chewing her cud. That is a signal for a great frolic. They frisk and gambol, kick up their heels, jump over their adopted mother, stand on her sides, try to walk up her neck, ba-a in her ear and pay no more attention to her soft remonstrances than if they had never been made, stopping only long enough now and then to take a nip at the teat as they go by, and enjoying the sport immensely.

It is believed that with the absorption of so much cow's milk at this early period in their lives the lambs are likely to become imbued with many of the instincts and characteristics of the cow, and it would not be surprising to find them after a while fall into the habit of chewing gum, kicking over milking stools and trying to hook the milkmaids. The only parallel to this remarkable cow-lamb alliance is that related a couple of years ago by former Assessor John Ingles, whose lamb was adopted and reared by a female bound, and through association with her pups became such a gay young thing, chasing rabbits and foxes and staying out late nights that Mr. Ingles decided there was nothing to do but put the little rascal in a reform school, and so sold him to James D. Evans—Louisville Times.

BEADS ODDLY STRUNG.

(By J. H. Thomas.)

Chairman Hager says the Democratic state convention will be a marvel of harmony. With the cards stacked perhaps it will, but it will be such a harmony as one might wish his enemies.

War will continue to attend upon the disputes of nations but Germany is making the last stand of militarism.

Is the weak, vacillating foreign policy of Mr. Wilson destined to raise the iron-willed Roosevelt again to the presidency?

However wise and salutary the laws of state, good government is possible only when the people elect capable, honest and fearless officers.

Will this be our second entry into Mexico only to march up the bill and then march down again?

Events will justify the wisdom of the Republican state central committee's selection of Ludlow F. Petty, of Shelbyville, as campaign chairman. Ludlow Petty is one of the most conservative, level headed and resourceful politicians in Kentucky, and as campaign chairman will command the respect and confidence of the party throughout the state.

The liquor people don't care who writes Kentucky's songs if Stanley makes it's laws.

Robert Bacon, Roosevelt's devotee, brings the colonel and senator Root together at a dinner and forthwith gives out an interview endorsing Root for president. Does this mean Roosevelt is for Root?

Todd and Muhlenburg Republican county committees have endorsed J. Frank Taylor for Congress in the third district. The threatened fight upon the Glasgow statesman seems to have died abooming.

With the proxies from their districts congressmen Langley and Powers attended the Republican state central committee meeting in Louisville last week and crimped a crimp in the Fairbank's boom.

We have it from very close to Col. Roosevelt himself that he is deeply concerned about his place in history, and will never again depart from the beaten path.

Yesterday it was Maurice Galvin, Green Garrett and Bill Cochran; today it is John Langley, Caleb Powers and J. Frank Taylor. A midwinter convention did it.

The present reading of the Stars indicates a royal battle two years hence for the Republican nomination for United States Senator between Edwin P. Morrow and John W. Langley.

It looks like Hughes; it may be Roosevelt, but we venture a guess it will be neither of them.

It is reported that the Beckham-Haley-Vannant faction will give Stanley and James plenty of rope, after they hang themselves in November build upon the shattered ruins.

The one great need of the Republican party in Kentucky is newspapers. There are less than forty Republican newspapers in the state and none of state-wide circulation.

Mr. M. L. Heavrin has returned from Arapaho, Okla., where he defended Everett Miller, formerly of this county, who is charged with murder. The jury stood 11 to 1 for acquittal, necessitating a return on the part of Mr. Heavrin to re-try the case. He was accompanied by Mrs. Heavrin.

The Junior class entertained at College Hall Wednesday evening with three plays, "My Neighbor's Wife," "Shadows," and "My Turn Next." A good sized crowd greeted the first attempt of the young actors and the plays, being a mixture of comedy and tragedy, were very much enjoyed. About forty-five dollars were realized, which will be used to pay the commencement expenses. Miss Glenn, who was in charge of the plays, and who coached the young players, deserves much credit for the showing.

A Hartford druggist recently sold a customer a bottle of patent medicine guaranteeing the drug to give entire satisfaction. The customer returned in about two weeks and the following conversation took place:

Customer—"This medicine didn't give satisfaction and under your guarantee I want my money back."

Druggist—"Why, what's the trouble? Did you take the medicine according to instructions?"

Customer—"Yes."

Druggist—"Are you satisfied you did?"

Customer—"Yes."

Druggist—"Now, are you entirely satisfied that you took that medicine according to directions?"

Customer—"Absolutely."

Druggist—"Then you got entire satisfaction and that's what I guaranteed."

And he turned his attention to another customer.

STRAY STREAKS.

(By Fluke McFluke.)

A few people are willing to pay their way, some pay because they are forced to, but the majority want it whether they pay or don't.

While the business manager is watching his wife garden and the editor is out fishing, it's as tough as thunder on Duke, King and the Devil to do the work and get the paper out.

The day once was when a years subscription was good for a medium side of bacon, but alas it's different now for a medium side of bacon now, about 14 inches of the south-west end of a hog's back bone equals the price under the present administration.

We predict that some of the grandmothers of 40 years from now will be removing from the family album, photos done in 1916 model skirts, when grandchildren are paying a visit to modest old Granny.

Speaking of fishing, Roy Riley, Al Barnett and Bill Rhoads, have trout lines near together, sort of a community fishing. Roy says that it's a darn strange thing that Al and Bill always beat him up and run their lines first of mornings and they manage to have fish while he catches water dogs.

The average 16-year-old, young American can't figure out just why his 50-year-old-dad hasn't yet arrived at the age of reason.

More life mysteries.

Why is it that some wives in talking of their husbands give them little or no credit for things done, yet get madder than the devil if an outsider detracts from said hubby.

PROMINENT CITIZEN ATTEMPTS SUICIDE

HARVE WILLIAMS FOUND HANGING IN BARN—CONDITION CRITICAL.

Mr. J. H. Williams, who lives near Taylor Mines, was found swinging in his barn Monday morning by his daughter. She immediately screamed for assistance and the would-be suicide was cut down and doctors summoned to ascertain if there was any hope for his recovery. Although in a seemingly hopeless condition life was found to exist and after many hours of constant attention he was slightly relieved. Reports received here yesterday state that Mr. Williams has contracted pneumonia and that there is practically no hope for his recovery.

Mr. Williams formerly served as magistrate from his district and is one of the most prominent men in the county. He had been in bad health for several months and it is believed that temporary insanity resulted, which partly explains the rash act. Friends here are much concerned over the condition of Mr. Williams.

Cromwell Lodge No. 692, F. & A. M. Cromwell, Ky.

On April 18th, 1916, the messenger which will eventually visit every home on earth, gave the alarm at the outer door of our lodge and summoned Bro. L. D. Taylor to pass from this temporal abode here into the great beyond; where there is no more suffering, or sorrow; no more sin, no more tears.

Bro. Taylor joined the Masonic Fraternity in the year 1868. He joined the Methodist church in his early manhood days, since which time he has been a faithful follower of the lowly Nazarene and by his admonition and example many homes have been made happier. His words of sympathy have cheered sad hearts and have given them courage to fight the battles of life with gladness and good cheer.

Therefore be it resolved: That though we miss his ever ready word of encouragement and good advice, he will ever remain in our memory, and our consolation will be in the recollection of his wise counsel and ministering hand.

Resolved: That Cromwell Lodge No. 692 has lost a worthy brother, his family a kind, loving father, the community a valued citizen, and the church a true christian.

Resolved: That we tender to the family our sincere and heartfelt sympathy and point them to Him, who doeth all things well.

Resolved: That these resolutions be spread upon our records, a copy sent to the family, and published in each of the county papers.

Washington as a Farmer.

Until he reached manhood, George Washington never saw a town of 5000 inhabitants. Our first president was born on a plantation and was brought up in the country. As a farmer, Washington was the first American to raise mules, cultivated alfalfa as early as 1760, and performed hundreds of experiments. A soil conservationist in the infancy of that movement, Washington seems to have been the first of America's scientific farmers. His family crest had blazoned upon it "three cinque folles"—indicating that the bearer practiced husbandry on his own land; when the greatest of the Washingtons made a bookplate of his coat of arms he added to the old design spears of wheat such as he raised at Mount Vernon.

How to avoid Operations

These Three Women Tell How They Escaped the Dreadful Ordeal of Surgical Operations.

Hospitals are great and necessary institutions, but they should be the last resort for women who suffer with ills peculiar to their sex. Many letters on file in the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., prove that a great number of women after they have been recommended to submit to an operation have been made well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Here are three such letters. All sick women should read them.

Marinette, Wis.—"I went to the doctor and he told me I must have an operation for a female trouble, and I hated to have it done as I had been married only a short time. I would have terrible pains and my hands and feet were cold all the time. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and was cured, and I feel better in every way. I give you permission to publish my name because I am so thankful that I feel well again."

—Mrs. FRED BEHNKE, Marinette, Wis.

Detroit, Mich.—"When I first took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was so run down with female troubles that I could not do anything, and our doctor said I would have to undergo an operation. I could hardly walk without help so when I read about the Vegetable Compound and what it had done for others I thought I would try it. I got a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and a package of Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash and used them according to directions. They helped me and today I am able to do all my work and I am well."

—Mrs. THOS. DWYER, 989 Milwaukee Ave., East, Detroit, Mich.

Bellevue, Pa.—"I suffered more than tongue can tell with terrible bearing down pains and inflammation. I tried several doctors and they all told me the same story, that I never could get well without an operation and I just dreaded the thought of that. I also tried a good many other medicines that were recommended to me and none of them helped me until a friend advised me to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. The first bottle helped, I kept taking it and now I don't know what it is to be sick any more and I am picking up in weight. I am 20 years old and weigh 145 pounds. It will be the greatest pleasure to me if I can have the opportunity to recommend it to any other suffering woman."

—Miss IRENE FROELICHER, 1925 Manhattan St., North Side, Bellevue, Pa.

If you would like special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Med. Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

WINTER PASTURES CUT COSTS IN HOG RAISING

For cutting costs in hog production, winter pastures have recently proved their worth at the Mississippi A. and M. College experiment station.

Dr. E. M. Ranck, who has charge of the hog department, has just finished an experiment which showed the practicability of pasturing pigs even during the winter months.

A patch of emmer, or what is commonly called speltz, was planted last fall on a patch that had been used previously for a soy bean pasture. On Dec. 23 a sow was placed on this emmer patch, on which was placed a modified Mississippi colony hog house, and on Dec. 27 she farrowed 11 pigs. From the second day after farrowing until Jan. 28 the sow and 10 pigs (one having died) received a mixture of 4½ pounds each of corn chops and shorts. From Jan. 28 to April 1 the feed was increased to five pounds, making a total of 453 pounds each of corn chops and shorts, which had an actual market value of $1.75 per hundred. The rent on the pasture, labor for attendance, etc., was estimated at $50 for the sow, $50 for the boar and $50 for equipment at six per cent for six months (we must estimate for three months previous to the time of farrowing) was $4.50, or $23.34, which was the actual cost of raising 10 pigs to the time of weaning. These pigs at that time weighed 582 pounds and cost $2.53 each, or approximately four cents per pound. As they are pre-bred pigs, they have an actual selling value of $15 each and are extremely growthy and vigorous.

An experiment of this kind could have been conducted just as well on a patch of rye or oats or wheat, as at the same time we were conducting this experiment, using emmer as a grazing patch, we were also pasturing small fields with these other products. The only advantage that we noticed during the severe winter was that the emmer seemed to stand the freezing weather with less injury than the other crops. Pure water and a mineral mixture were available at all times for the sow and pigs, and means were provided for some of the feed to be placed in small troughs in such a manner that the pigs could get some without interference from the mother, and we noticed that they started to eat out of their troughs when they were five days old and started to eat the green, succulent pasture after they were six days old. During the experiment we experienced three snowstorms and several freezes, and during which time the colony house above mentioned was the only shelter provided for them. Specifications for this colony house can be secured by writing to the experiment station.

The sow suckled the pigs and was in good breeding condition at weaning time and was bred five days after weaning the pigs.—Memphis Commercial Appeal.

CUTWORM CONTROL

Cornfields May Be Protected by Plowing at the Proper Time and Using Poison.

Numerous complaints of the ravages of cut worms, especially in relation to corn, are received each season by the department. Prompt action is necessary for controlling cutworms after their presence becomes noticeable in the spring, which is usually about the time the corn begins to sprout. Because of the fact that the delay necessary between the time the worms make their appearance and the time a reply can be received from the department is often disastrous to the crop, the importance of recognizing these insects and knowing how to control them is evident.

Cutworm injury almost invariably occurs in the spring, the plants usually being cut off at the surface, or a little below the surface, of the ground, beginning as soon as the first plants sprout and continuing until late July, by which time the worms are full grown. Feeding takes place at night, the worms resting during the day beneath debris or in the soil at a depth of from one-half to 1 inch below the surface, and since they closely resemble the color of the soil in most cases, the cause of the injury is often not apparent. However, if the soil surrounding the cut-off plant be examined carefully, the culprit will quite likely be found curled up in the soil.

Life History.

The various cutworms are known under a number of popular names, such as the glassy cutworm, clay-backed cutworm, etc., but the injuries caused by them are very similar and their habits in general are also much the same. The parents of cutworms are grayish or brownish moths or "millers," which commonly occur at lights during summer evenings. Each moth may lay from 200 to 500 eggs, either in masses or singly, in fields covered with dense vegetation, and hence are to be found more often in cultivated fields which have been in grass or weeds the preceding fall. The eggs hatch in the fall.

Land to be planted to corn the following spring, especially such land as has laid in grass for a considerable time and likely to contain cutworms, should be plowed in midsummer or early fall about the time the eggs are laid, or better, before the eggs are laid, for then vegetation which is suitable for the moths to lay their eggs upon is removed. The earlier the preceding year grasslands are to be planted to corn are plowed, the less will be the probability that the cutworm moths will have laid their eggs thereon, and the less, consequently, will be the danger of injury by cutworms the following year.

Late fall and winter plowing of grasslands, although not as effective as early plowing, will destroy many of the hibernating cutworms, as well as such other important corn pests as white grubs, and should be practiced when earlier plowing is impracticable.

Pasturing hogs upon land supposed to harbor cutworms is a beneficial practice, as these animals root up and devour insects of many kinds, including cutworms, in large numbers. Farm poultry if trained to follow the plow, will prove of inestimable value.

When cutworms are found to be abundant on corn land, the use of the poisoned bait is recommended. This may be prepared as follows: Mix 50 pounds of wheat bran, 2 pounds of Paris green, and 6 finely chopped oranges or lemons. Then chop the whole mixture to the consistency of a stiff dough by the addition of a cheap molasses, such as is used in cattle rations, adding water when necessary.

Distribute this bait over the infested field in small lumps, taking care to sprinkle it sparingly around each hill. In case bran cannot be readily obtained, middlings of alfalfa meal may be successfully substituted. In fields known to be infested, the distribution of this bait should be started as soon as the corn begins to appear above ground so that the cutworms may be eliminated as quickly as possible and the injured hills promptly replanted. During the warmer spring months cutworms do most of their feeding at night and burrow into the soil to the depth of an inch or two during the day, so that the bait will usually be more effective if applied during the late afternoon or early evening hours.

Frequently cutworms migrate to cultivated fields from adjoining grassland, and in such cases the crops can be protected by running a narrow band of the poisoned bait around the edge of the field or along the side nearest the source of infection.—United States Agricultural Bureau.

Tribute to the Cow.

E. G. Bennett, state dairy commissioner of Missouri, gives the cow a deserving tribute in the following paragraphs:

"Little do we realize the debt we owe the cow. During the dark ages of savagery and barbarism we find her early ancestors, natives of the wild forests of the Old World. As the bright rays of civilization penetrated the darkness of that early period and man called upon the cow, she came forth from her seclusion to share in the efforts that gave us a greater nation and more enlightened people.

"For 2000 years she has shown her allegiance to man, sharing alike in his prosperity and adversity, responding nobly to all that was done for her, until through her development she became an idol of the people of her native country.

"In 1493, when Columbus made his second voyage to America, the cow came with him—and from that time to the present day she has been a most potent factor in making this, our own country, the greatest nation, with the highest type of womanhood and manhood history has ever known.

"Her sons helped till the soil of our ancestors and slowly moved the products of the farm to the market. They went with man into the dense forests of the New World, helped clear them for homes and made cultivation possible for the coming generations—and when the tide of emigration turned westward, they hauled the belongings of the pioneers across the sun-scorched plains and over the great mountain ranges to new homes beyond.

"Truly, the cow is man's greatest benefactor. Hall, winds, droughts and floods may come, destroy our crops and banish our hopes, but from what is left, the cow manufactures the most nourishing and life-sustaining foods—and is she not life to the thousands of little ones stranded upon the hollow hearts and barren bosoms of modern motherhood? We love her for her docility, her beauty and her usefulness. Her loyalty has never weakened—and should misfortune overtake us, as we become bowed down with the weight of years, we know that in the cow we have a friend that was never known to falter. She pays the debt. She saves the home. God bless the cow! Little do we realize the debt we owe her."

THE INSTALLATION of L. C. Smith & Bros. Typewriters

is invariably followed by the discovery that the bills for ribbons are much less than before. A large corporation recently found that its ribbon expense was cut in two. This is not an accident. It is the result of the mechanical construction that makes the L. C. Smith & Bros. cheapest to maintain.

The ball bearings give light touch and eliminate pounding impact. The ribbon is actuated by the carriage, not the typebar. The ribbon mechanism is automatic, so that the ribbon reverses at the instant the end is reached and without added strain.

Low ribbon cost, low cost of maintenance and the highest efficiency—these are guaranteed to L. C. Smith & Bros. users.

The Passing of a Zeppelin.

(Lewis R. Freeman in the Atlantic.)

The whole universe seemed to have resolved itself into one mighty roar, and I distinctly recall that the main-sail halyard by which I steadied myself vibrated to the heat of the pulsating grind from above. For a moment—sensing rather than seeing—I was aware of a great black bulk blotting out the stars above the river, and then, stabbing the darkness like a flaming sword, the yellow flash of a searchlight leapt forth from the dusky void and ran in swift zigzags back and forth across the marshes and canals beneath. Now a herd of cows could be seen staggering dazedly to their feet, now the startled bridge-players on the deck of the houseboat moored above were revealed, and now our eyes blinked blindly in the yellow glare before the questing shaft darted on down the river to spotlight an eel-fisher's shanty on the dyke and the gaunt frame of a towering Dutch windmill beyond.

Now it found the shary right-angled bend of the river, quivered there for a second or two, and then flashed out, leaving a blinder blackness behind. At almost the same instant the "Thing of Terror"—a hurtling mass of roaring engines and clattering propellers—shot by overhead, followed by a confused wake of conflicting air-currents. It passed straight down above the middle of the river at a height of not over 300 feet, and beneath the dimly guessed bulk of it bright chinks and squares of light, broken by the shadows of moving men, plotted the lines of two underslung cars. A zeppelin had passed literally within a stone's throw.

Fishin' and Farmin'

The lower house in in a mess,
The senate's in a wrangle,
An' politics is warmin' up
An' gettin' in a tangle.
The president is on the stump,
Preparedness a-talkin',
With lots of folks a-backin' him,
An' lots of 'em a-talkin'.

The Mexicans are playin' smoke
Down on the Texas border,
An' Uncle Sam's a-gettin' riled,
An' sayin' he'll have order.
The situation, so they say,
Is gettin' quite alarming,
But somehow, I ain't worried much,
I'm fishin' an' I'm farmin'.

From Monday morn till Friday night
I hustle like the dickens,
A-plowin' an' a-plantin' an'
A-runnin' after chickens;
But Saturday you see me like
Across the fields an' meadows
To where the lake is sleepin' with
Its bosom full of shadows.

An' there I sit an' doze an' dream,
An' watch my cork a-rockin',
I hear the chatter of the squirrel,
The yellow-hammer knockin'.
An' if I'm lucky, well an' good,
An' if I'm not, what matter?
It's just the fishin' that I love,
An' not the fish I'm after.

Now I ain't got no sight o' time
For talkin' an' for readin',
An' I'll admit that I don't know
Just what the country's needin',
An' I ain't much on politics,
An' I ain't much on votin',
I'd rather watch my garden grow,
Or watch my cork a-floatin'.

So let 'em go ahead an' build
A navy that will suit 'em,
An' let 'em buy a million guns
An' hire men to shoot 'em,
An' they can do just what they please.
The only thing I'm wishin'
Is that they'll just let me keep on
A-farmin' an' a-fishin'.—Whittier
Montgomery in Farm and Ranch.

Told That There Was No Cure for Him.

"After suffering for over twenty years with indigestion and having some of the best doctors here tell me there was no cure for me, I think it only right to tell you for the sake of other sufferers as well as your own satisfaction that a 25c bottle of Chamberlain's Tablets not only relieved me but cured me within two months although I am a man of 65 years," writes Jul. Grohnen, Houston, Texas. Obtainable everywhere.

When the young bull got out Farmer Quickly hurried out to the field where he was, and when the bull saw him coming he came to meet the man. The master placed his hand on the animal's forehead, put the other into the ring in his nose and led him home. The secret of it was that the farmer had always treated the bull kindly. If the bull had ever had a beating he would have run, expecting another. Kindness to animals pays in more ways than one.—Farm and Ranch.

HUSBAND RESCUED DESPAIRING WIFE

After Four Years of Discouraging Conditions, Mrs. Bullock Gave Up in Despair. Husband Came to Rescue.

Patron, Ky.—In an interesting letter from this place, Mrs. Bettie Bullock writes as follows: "I suffered for four years, with womanly troubles, and during this time, I could only sit up for a little while, and could not walk anywhere at all. At times, I would have severe pains in my left side. The doctor was called in, and his treatment relieved me for a while, but I was soon confined to my bed again. After that, nothing seemed to do me any good."

I had gotten so weak I could not stand, and I gave up in despair.

At last, my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I commenced taking it. From the very first dose, I could tell it was helping me. I can now walk two miles without tiring me, and am doing all my work."

If you are all run down from womanly troubles, don't give up in despair. Try Cardui, the woman's tonic. ## LATEST WAR NEWS

Monday

Mexico.—Unofficial messages received yesterday at Juarez over the Mexican telegraph lines from Chihuahua state Villa is dead, that his burial place had been betrayed by a former Villa officer and that the body had been recovered. It was reported the body was being brought into Cusihuiriachic, and would eventually be brought to Chihuahua City. These reports were not confirmed officially. Washington announces that United States troops will be withdrawn from Mexico at once if the report is confirmed that Villa is dead.

The information was received by Mexican Consul Garcia. The news came in dispatches from telegraph operators at Madera and Cusihuiriachic.

It was a force of Carranza soldiers who engaged the detachment of American cavalry at Parral Wednesday in a regularly organized action, according to a detailed report written by Maj. Frank Tompkins and forwarded by Gen. Pershing to Gen. Funston.

Forty of the Mexican soldiers, including one Major, were killed by the retreating Americans. The American casualties were two killed and six wounded, including Maj. Tompkins. His wound was slight.

Verdun.—Without diminishing in intensity, the battle of Verdun is entering into its ninth week today. The Germans under the Crown Prince first launched their attack against the French front on February 21. The loss in killed and wounded on both sides as nearly as can be estimated has reached 400,000. The French in their defense have abandoned the old fortified positions for a maze of trenches, and against these the Germans have thrown assault. With an enormous outlay of men and ammunition the Germans have so far succeeded in taking about 100 square miles of territory, but as yet have not made any breach in or been able to pierce the French line.

Fort Douaumont, taken early in the offensive, and Bethincourt are the two most important positions the Teutons have gained. The French evacuated Bethincourt.

England.—The British force made some gains after the explosion of two mines against the German trenches.

Turkey.—The Turkish Government admits that one of its submarines sank the Russian hospital ship Portugal in the Black Sea last month, when 113 persons were drowned. Turkey maintains that the commander and other officers of the submarine were justified in believing that the vessel was a transport.

Tuesday

Mexico.—Confirmation of the report that the body of Villa had been found was lacking last night at El Paso, Juarez and Chihuahua. United States Consul Letcher, at the latter place, said he had heard nothing of the report. It is claimed that the wires are down between Juarez and Chihuahua. Mexicans express confidence in the report that Villa is dead.

Six Mexicans, who are said to have confessed implication in the raid on Columbus, N. M., have been arrested by New Mexico authorities.

Army officers at Gen. Pershing's headquarters state that Maj. Frank Tompkins received a written threat from the commander of the Carranza garrison at Parral that his men would be attacked if they entered the city, and that they were ambushed.

It is reported that typhoid fever is becoming epidemic in Mexico, endangering alike the United States troops and the natives.

United States.—The final word of the United States to Germany on the submarine issue is ready for transmission to Berlin. The communication, Washington dispatches say, makes plain that the continuance of friendly relations between the United States and Germany rests on an immediate change in the German policy of submarine warfare.

England.—Blunders of the British Government in the conduct of the war were the ammunition of the press in a vehement revival of attacks which openly advocated overthrow of the "inefficient" Ministry yesterday, the day for final decisions in the Cabinet Council as to whether married men should be conscripted. The decisions, believed to be against general conscription, will be made known to-day by Premier Asquith.

France.—Another powerful German infantry attack from the River Meuse to Douaumont was swept back with heavy casualties to the attacking forces, who gained, however, a small footing in the chaufour wood. The shelling of hill 304 and the second lines of the French in this region continues.

Wednesday

United States.—President Wilson will lay the submarine case before Congress to-day. In the hall of the House of Representatives at 1 o'clock in the afternoon with Congress seated before him in joint session the President will speak the last words of the United States to Germany in the grave situation which has kept the two nations on the brink of a break for nearly a year.

Developments, yet undisclosed and of the most solemn importance, are expected to follow quickly. An ultimatum to Germany and the severance of diplomatic relations are the two most likely eventualities.

The President's action recalls with significance that he promised to submit to Congress his final action before a possible break, Congress alone having the power to declare war.

Count von Bernstorff, the German Ambassador, sought a conference with Secretary Lansing yesterday, but the latter was unable to see him, and it became known that the Washington Government had put an end to parleying.

Immediate return of papers and documents seized from the office formerly occupied by Capt. Franz von Papen, the recalled German attaché, were demanded of the United States Government yesterday, together with a request for the immediate release of Wolf von Igell, von Papen's secretary, arrested on a charge of conspiring to blow up the Weiland Canal. The release is to be effected if the crime of which he is charged was committed after he became a member of the German Embassy staff.

Russia.—Attacking both by sea and land the Russians have captured the most important Turkish port on the Black Sea—Trehizon—which is said to have been defended by three full divisions of Turkish soldiers. The fall of this stronghold gives the Czar's forces an almost clear field to begin their operations which have as their object the isolation of the enemy forces in Mesopotamia.

Verdun.—Inclement weather has checked the struggle at Verdun, and the War Office reports of yesterday spoke only of minor bombardments in that sector.

Mexico.—Gen. Funston issued orders yesterday that will place at the disposal of Gen. Pershing 2,300 more troops.

Gen. Funston has ordered other troops to proceed to Columbus, N. M. Meanwhile the active pursuit of Villa has been halted because of the attack upon the American troops at Parral. Gen. Pershing is believed to be making his headquarters at Namiquipi, some distance north of the position he had held several days ago.

The Mexican situation was discussed at yesterday's Cabinet meeting.
